Survivor's family reacts, 'Thank God'

Wonders about his treatment in Korea

SPRING GREEN, Wis. (AP) -Glenn M. Schwanke, co-pilot aboard a helicopter shot down Thursday near the Korean demilitarized zone and the copter's only survivor, was described Friday by his family as just an easy-going deer hunter.

He was "a really likeable young man, a happy-go-lucky, good-looking redhead" who was noted for his success during autumn hunting seasons, said an aunt, Mrs. Clinton Schwanke.

Schwanke's mother, bakery employe Patricia Schwanke, said she received a telephone call from the White House, informing her that her son had survived the crash but that the status of his health was not immediately certain.

She was "very relieved" to hear he was still alive, but said President Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, could tell her little about the medical attention he was getting from his North Korean captors.

They only know that he is the survivor and is receiving medical treatment," she said.

Schwanke, 28, is the oldest of five children, having graduated from Spring Valley High School in 1967.

They said he worked for about a year as a construction worker, then enlisted in the Army and re-enlisted, working as a helicopter pilot instructor in Texas and getting shot down once before in Vietnam.

He was assigned to Korea last spring, having been married for about two years to the former Mary Wallace of Whitney, Texas, who accompanied him to Korea, the family

His family said he regularly took his furloughs home, especially during deer hunting season.

It was during the autumn hunting season last year that the family met

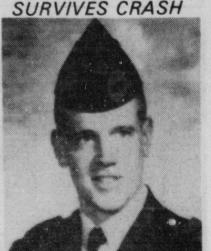

The telephone call from Powell produced mixed reaction. His aunt related she had said: "Thank God."

'Then I felt kind of scared because I don't know what condition he's in," she said. "I don't know how he's being treated.

"The person who talked to my mother said he thought they would be treating him well," she said.

Relatives said Mrs. Schwanke and Schwanke's father are divorced.

Secret drug tests uncovered by CIA

Central Intelligence Agency informed the Senate on Friday it has uncovered documents shedding new light on secret drug tests carried out on unsuspecting Americans from 1953 to 1964

At the direction of President Carter, CIA Director Stansfield Turner hand delivered a letter in which he told Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, that he is volunteering to testify on the subject 'at the earliest opportunity.

Asked by reporters how serious he thought the matter was, President Carter said, "I think it is fairly serious.

The text of Turner's letter was made public by White House press secretary Jody Powell. It said the newly uncovered documents deal

N. Korea set to return soldier, three bodies

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) North Korea said Saturday it is ready to turn over an American soldier and the bodies of three others killed when their helicopter was shot down after straying into North Korea

North Korean chief negotiator Han Ju-Kyong said at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission here that his nation would return the man and the bodies in the spirit of humanitarianism, and in the belief that the U.S.-led United Nations command will take steps to prevent a recurrence of such incidents.

The North Korean spoke after after U.S. Navy Rear Adm. Warren C. Hamm told him: "I am prepared to consider any reasonable proposal by your side regarding the return of our personnel and helicopter that innocently violated your air space."

In his opening statement, Hamm said the incident was "regrettable" and that it was "an unintentional intrusion.

The North Korean then said, "in view of the fact that the United States said it was unintentional, we are going to settle it leniently so that complicated situation will not

The projects are set up by the federal government to meet the needs of the unemployed in the community. The previous emphasis was on assisting the city, but the focus now is to serve the long-term unemployed," she reported.

The project must be a public service. It has a 12-month limit and must be a new service or an activity cut back due to the lack of funds. The funds cannot be used for equipment or supplies," she added.

The projects are designed to "remove people from the welfare rolls; take people off unemployment and put them to work; and hopefully serve as a catalyst for connot obligated to maintain these pr jects after the federal dollars are spent, Miss Page explained.

Employe applicants must be certified by the Ontario office of the Employment Development Department. They must go through that office rather than City Hall for referral to the various positions. Applicants must also be residents of San Bernardino County but live outside the City of San Bernardino, and have an income within 70 per cent of the poverty level. Certain criteria must also deal with the length of time the individual has been unemployed and the status of any unemployment claims. The Ontario office of EDD is now gearing up and will begin taking applications for these projects on Monday," said Miss Page.

Montclair seeks residents to serve on advisory panel

The City of Montclair is asking residents interested in the physical improvement of their city to serve in an advisory capacity to the City

The group, which will be known as the Citizen Participation Advisory Committee (CPAC), will be required to devote significant time to become familiar with the Community Development Block Grant Program, its goals, constraints and other program requirements, according to housing coordinator Lee McDougal.

The time demands generally occur during the summer months. The CPAC must communicate with the public about the Community Development Block Grant Program, involve residents in participating in it, solicit and evaluate their input and make recommendations to the city staff and council.

McDougal outlined the specific responsibilities as

Attend two half-day workshops on the block grant program.

-Assist city staff in developing an outreach program for communicating with eligible citizens.

-Develop a schedule of activities for the application period, including meeting dates and timetables.

Develop a statement of community development and housing needs for the target areas, based on community input. -Develop a program addressing the needs of the community, including a priority list of projects and programs to be funded with block grant funds.

-Make recommendations to the city staff and council with regards to community development objectives, priorities and resource allocation of funds for the 1978-79 Community Development Block Grant Program application.

-Conduct area meetings on community development and housing needs, as needed to develop the required statements

-Handle initial investigations of citizen complaints related to the CPAC activities and-or the program recommended by the CPAC to the City Council

The CPAC will be a five-member group, and can be expanded to seven members if necessary. Members will be appointed for a six to seven month period, running from July 1977 through the date of which the 1978-79 block grant program is adopted. Adoption is expected in December.

Interested Montclair residents may contact McDougal at City Hall, 626-8571 ext. 51.

Chino trustees change policy on retirement

Chino school trustees have voted to change their policy on mandatory retirement of employes to permit retaining a teacher beyond the age of 65.

Board members, under the new policy, may retain a teacher who passes the retirement age on a year-to-year contract basis. Teachers will be required to make requests to be retained by April 1 preceding the retirement date.

The new policy is an outgrowth of the request by parents and students to retain 65-year-old teacher Jim Pixley on the payroll for next year.

Students made a strong plea to retain Pixley, a teacher in Chino High School's alternative school program, at a board meeting last month. About 15 students staged a walkout on May 13 to protest Pixley's mandatory retire-

According to district officials, formal action is still required to retain Pixley despite the new policy. Decisions regarding teachers must be made on an individual

In other action this week, the board granted salary raises to John McMurtry, deputy superintendent, and Al Searfoss, assistant superintendent for business.

McMurtry's salary was raised from $32,500 to $35,000. His fringe benefit allotment will remain at $1,000 per year, and he will receive $100 a month for a mileage and expense allowance.

Searfoss' annual wage was boosted from $32,000 to

Red Cross youth officers return with summer ideas

Delegates Chantay Taylor and Theresa Jiminez, who serve as officers of the Pomona Red Cross Youth Council, have returned from the Harvey Mudd Leadership Center filled with ideas for the local chapter's summer youth activities.

The development of a summer program involving local high school students in community programs was initiated during the week-long workshop attended by 75 Southern California youth volunteers.

A new project is the adoption of "grandparents" at Julene Convalescent Hospital in Pomona. The high school students will take their newly adopted grandparents on outings and will befriend them in many ways. Adult volunteers are being recruited to assist in this project.

The council has opened the RED Garage, a weekly summer activity where neighborhood children are provided arts and crafts instruction and a variety of educational and fun experiences.

Future plans include sponsoring a bike-a-thon and assisting with patients at Pacific State Hospital.

High school students interested in joining the council are urged to call Diane Turner at Pomona Red Cross, 622-1348, for more information.

Second phase work at Prado to begin

Visitors to Prado Regional Park near Chino may soon be able to swim and row their boats.

San Bernardino County supervisors reported second phase improvements may begin next month when funds become available.

And Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino said the $1.5 million project could be completed by late 1978 or early 1979.

The project will include construction of several large dams, a lake facilities, lakeside landscaping, boathouse pavilion, docks, swim complex, athletic areas and more parking lots.

Improvements will be financed mostly by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and state bond funds. Less than $35,000 in county money will be required, added Townsend.

The county financed most of the first phase of construction, which totaled $1.8 million.

The park is the newest of the county's eight regional parks. Twelve parks are planned in the county for use by 1980.

How S.B. County residents want taxes spent

More protection, less welfare

PB Staff Writer

San Bernardino County residents want more police protection and less welfare spending by local governments, according to a survey released this week.

The survey, requested last June by county supervisors, questioned 75,000 residents on how they believed local taxes should be spent. Only 9,500, or 13 per cent, of the questionnaires were returned to the county.

Regarding welfare spending, 71.4 per cent of the respondents believed this should be reduced. Only 3 per cent favored increasing welfare spending.

Regarding increased police protection, 46.8 per cent viewed this as a top priority item for county government and 11.8 per cent indicated it was their second choice for increased tax support. Only 6 per cent of the respondents wanted reduced police spending and services

Officials reported welfare and police spending are the two most expensive areas of county government

Public assistance programs, including welfare, account for about one-third of all county spending. The Law and Justice Agency, which includes the sheriff's department, courts, county jails and probation department, accounts for about 20 per cent of the county's budget.

Despite apparent public opposition to increased welfare spending, however, San Bernardino County Human Resource Agency officials who oversee welfare are seeking a 17.5 per cent increase in their budget for the coming year. If accepted by county supervisors, their proposed budget would top the $100 million mark for the first time. As county officials have pointed out, however, much of the welfare costs borne by taxpayers are mandated by state and federal laws. Law and Justice Agency administrators have also requested increased spending for the coming year. But they are seeking a more modest 12.5 per cent increase to a spending level of $54.7 million. Most of that increase will be used for increased police and court services.

The transfer of the second sec

Other areas touched on by the survey — but without any conclusive results - included questions concerning adequacy of of the criminal justice system, preventive health care for the poor, adequacy of emergency medical services provided by the county, budgetary priorities, and general questions.

On the question of what to do about property taxes during times of inflation, respondents were given three options: lower and reduced services, stay at present spending levels and reduce services to offset inflation, or increase spending at the rate of inflation.

Officials said 36.6 per cent of the respondents chose increasing spending at the rate of inflation; 29.7 per cent said the county should not increase spending; and 23.2 per cent called for reduced county spending.

Regarding identification of county supervisors, 63.3 per cent of the respondents knew their representatives while 36.7 per cent didn't. All five supervisors were named in the questionnaire.

Officials noted that 57.7 per cent of the respondents wanted stricter enforcement of zoning laws as opposed to 22.2 per cent who wanted less restrictive laws Only 12.1 per cent of residents responding didn't know if they resided in a city. County supervisors will review results of the countywide survey as they consider adoption of the 1977-78 budget scheduled for next month.

The proposed budget shows a 13.5 per cent increase in spending. Supervisors, however, have indicated they are seeking ways to trim the budget to a more modest level.

DONALD E. JUSTIS

Upland appoints fire chief

Donald E. Justis, 34, a former Pomona fireman, is the new fire chief in Upland.

His appointment was announced by Upland City Manager Lee Travers. with the approval of Upland City Council.

Justis, with the Upland Fire Department since 1966, had served as acting fire chief since the death June 27 of Chief Leon Lamphear

Travers said Justis was selected for the top position from a list of candidates limited to men within the department.

Justis served in the Pomona Fire Department a number of years before going to Upland. After a year there, he was promoted to engineer and in 1969 was elevated to the rank of captain. He was named assistant chief in 1974.

Justis is a graduate of Chaffey High School in Ontario and Chaffey College, Alta Loma. He and his wife Beverly have three children, Dawne Marie, Robert and Jami. They live in Upland.

Justis, following his appointment, said he is Reviewing the organizational structure" of the Upland Fire Department and soon may announce new administrative appointments.

He said he will submit his "review" to Travers.

O-M schools, city of Ontario at odds

No letup in battle for funds

By JON MORRIS PB Staff Writer

Ontario-Montclair school trustees will continue to battle the City of Ontario for federal public works funds.

Board members recently declined an apparent invitation from Ontario Mayor Paul Treadway to "back off" in the struggle for $2,258,000 in Public Works Act funds.

The school board and city have already submitted separate applications to the Economic Development Administration (EDA) for the funds. Trustees want to build a central kitchen facility, and the city wants a new city

The two bodies held a recent joint session, but failed to reach an agreement for either side to accept "second priority" in the bid for monies.

School officials claim there will be a 17 per cent increase in the volume of participants in the hot meal program next year, when the law will require kindergarteners to be served meals.

Present kitchens in the district are overcrowded, says Supt. Jack Jones.

The city, on the other hand, has been planning for a new city hall for many years and has already spent money on land acquisition at the Civic Center site. Officials say they had submitted the city hall project last year during the first phase of Public Works Act competition, while the school district "did nothing.

City spokesmen indicate the new facility would serve as a catalyst to revitalize the central business district.

Jones told the school board Thursday that Treadway had informed him that projects in areas where there is a "lack of agreement" will be the last to be approved by the

That would mean a 60-day delay on a decision to award the funds, Treadway told Jones.

The superintendent added that Treadway, who is a teacher in the school district, noted there would be $50,000 lost from the total funding if there is a delay, because of inflationary factors. Purchasing power would diminish, Jones explained. Treadway told Jones that if agreement is not reached the EDA had informed him they might "split the money. In other words, the city and school district would divide the $2,258,000, said Jones.

Estimated cost for the city hall is about $3.5 million, and the central kitchen $2,458,000. Jones also reported that Treadway invited school board members to visit the present (cramped) City Hall to "see

The invitation sparked a heated response from board member Sam DiGiovanni - and trustees made it clear they were in no mood to change their minds on the funding

State Bar to conduct insurance hearings

The State Bar of California will conduct hearings next week to allow lawyers and members of the public to express their views on proposed legislation which would establish the Attorneys Professional Responsibility Fund as an alternative to commercial malpractice insurance.

Two hearings are scheduled. The first will be July 20 in the State Building in San Francisco and the second will be July 21 in Los Angeles at the State Bar office at 1230 W. Third St. Both sessions begin at 9:30 a.m.

The legislation would require mandatory contributions from lawyers to establish a liability fund operated by a public corporation.

Guard recruitment

"Operation Grizzly" is a campaign being launched by the California Guard to promote retention and recruiting. The goal is a 5 per cent increase statewide before Sept. 30. Maj. Gen. Frank J. Schober, commanding general of the California Guard, informed his commanders the operation will be the top priority these coming months. Col. Lloyd A. Hutton, commander of the Ontario Air Guard, calls the operation the largest active statewide recruiting drive to date.

Ontario's initial steps have been to better inform ective local guardsmen of the numerous career choices, training and benefits available

The guard provides an opportunity for high school graduates, college students and prior service personnel to continue their studies, occupations and community involvement while pursuing a compatible military position with pay and benefits.

Books donated

Author Elizabeth Doidge has presented a copy of two of her latest books on poetry to the local authors collection of the Ontario library. The books, "Odds and Ends" and "My Crazy Quilt Pieces of Poetry," are available for checkout from the Model Colony Historical Collection, which also houses all the works of local authors.

Mrs. Doidge was born in San Bernardino, educated in Los Angeles, and has resided in the West End since 1923. She became interested in poetry after enjoying a career, raising a family and becoming a grandmother. Her poetry dwells on events of her life as the daughter of a dentist, the memories of her childhood and events and places she has enjoyed through the years. Her "Crazy Quilt" book contains poetry for children and young adults.

Fortune in shoe pegs

WASHINGTON (AP) -July is the month to remember Benjamin Franklin Sturtevant, a poor, uneducated boy from Maine who became a shoemaker and then an important inventor.

Patents made him wealthy. But first, he had to sell his rights to each patent in order to develop his next invention, according to Intellectual Property Owners, Inc., a non-profit group devoted to preserving the patent system as an incentive to creativity.

He first invented a shoepegging machine and lost that to a backer. Then, in 1859, he invented a lathe which cut a veneer from the face of a log. In July, 1862 he patented a machine to convert the veneer into shoe pegs. These machines could also make other kinds of pegs and wooden toothpicks. To finance himself, Sturtevant had to sell all rights in the machines except the making of shoe pegs.

Next he turned his attention to the problem of heavy dust created in shoe factories by buffing of leather. He invented a rotary exhaust fan, patented in 1867, and developed it for use in ventilator fans, pressure and everyday meanings, blowers and conveyors. He that's June 1, 1978.

'A job well done,' priest told by his boss, the Pope

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Canonization last month of Bishop John Neumann as a saint in the Roman Catholic Church didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the Rev. Francis J. Litz, for 21 years an advocate of Bishop Neumann for

'I'll keep an interest in the saints," Father Litz said. We have the cause of Mother Katherine Drexel, and then we have another Philadelphian - Mother Connelly.

"I could help them by promoting interest ... by lectures and so forth," he said.

Father Litz, 78, a Redemptorist priest, was appointed more than 20 years ago by the Vatican as vice postulator, or promoter in the United States, of the Bishop Neu-

While the appointment ended with the 19th century bishop's canonization June 19, Father Litz said his work did not.

The causes of Mother Drexel, founder of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament who died at the motherhouse in nearby Cornwells Heights in 1955, and Mother Cornelia Connelly, 19th century founder of the Sisters of the Holy Photo by Associated Press Child, are just beginning to work their way through the Vatican, he said.

Father Litz said he believes Mother Drexel's cause for sainthood "has reached a stage now when influence can be helpful.

"Influence (such as from an archdiocese) can remove a cause from the middle of the pile to the top," he said. Everybody's doing the same with their cause.

He noted there are more than 1,000 cases at various stages of consideration in Rome.

The Vatican has appointed the Rev. Msgr. James McGrath, head of the Philadelphia archdiocese tribunal, as Father Litz' replacement on the Mother Drexel case. Father Litz has given him a head start - gathering writings and testimony from 23 witnesses on behalf of Mother Drexel, whose cause has been under review for 11

'You don't despair with the passage of time and pull your hair out," Father Litz said of the long waiting period.

As promoter of Bishop Neumann's cause, Father Litz was responsible for finding possible miraculous cures attributed to the bishop, putting together a quarterly newsletter for 25,000 persons around the world, celebrating special Masses and lecturing on the bishop.

He attended the canonization ceremonies and met Pope

"He said congratulations for a job well done - maybe not the exact words, but that was the idea," Father Litz recalled.

Rev. Litz worked on the project for 21 years.

NEW YORK (AP) -One of the first religious leaders to spot the power of the cults over American youths, Rabbi Maurice Davis, says the problem is not just in methods the groups use, but in the 'needs and vulnerability" of the present young generation.

"Our children are lonely," he says, adding that they've been made that way by the modern lack of shared religious faith within their own families, while the cults have moved in to exploit that void.

Noting that the "opposite of loneliness is sharing,' he says that such cohesiveness and shared convictions must take place in the home, or the young will remain left with an emptiness that makes them ready victims of tightly enclosing cults.

It's "what makes our kids so vulnerable," he

He criticized the American Civil Liberties Union for its "automatic defense of the cults' without examining or being aware of "the new dimension of brainwashing" the groups have introduced into America.

He maintains that both from firsthand experience and an overwhelming accumulation of evidence that the intensive, isolated indoctrination techniques used by many cults involves mental coercion that blocks free will.

He urged a special scientific-psychiatric research project to analyze the phenomenon and "to determine how best to protect young Americans from a very real danger without in any way impinging on the First Amendment" rights of free religious choice.

Sparky can't please everyone

Before Dodger fans blow their corks over Sparky Anderson's All-Star selection of only four L.A. players off a team which has compiled the best won-lost record in the majors, they better consider the facts of All-Star life.

What it boils down to, in essence, is that four Dodger starting pitchers, catcher Steve Yeager and outfielder Dusty Baker were victims of the All-Star "numbers game.

All-Star regulations require that every team in the league must have at least one player on the All-Star squad. Some of Anderson's selections can be better understood once you realize what the Cincy skipper was up against.

Specifically, selections like the Astros' Joaquin Andujar, the Giants' Gary LaVelle and the Mets' John Stearns virtually HAD to be made by Anderson. No one else on those three teams, with the exception of J.R. Richard at Houston, would seem to have All-Star credentials this year.

Thus, Anderson fulfilled the need for an Astro, a Giant and a Met with his picks. That was not to say that Anderson, or anyone else for that matter, feels that Andujar and LaVelle are necessarily better pitchers this year than the snubbed Dodger chuckers in question, Doug Rau, Rick Rhoden, Burt Hooton and Tommy John.

It also doesn't take a baseball genius to figure that Stearns is hardly in the same class as a receiver as

The catch in all this, of course, is that one-player-per-team All-Star requirement.

That rule would seem to be in need of revision, especially as major league baseball continues to expand. One can envision an All-Star game played, say, in 1990 which will consist of one player from each team on each side, no more no less. That is, unless Bowie Kuhn steps in and changes a requirement that deprives fans, and the players, of a truly representative All-Star Game.

Rau upset

Suffice it to say, the neglected Dodger pitchers were not exactly delighted with Anderson's selec-

"I'm not that disappointed at not being picked myself," Rhoden indicated, "but I can't believe that only one of us (Dodger pitchers) was selected." That comment pretty well summed up the feeling on the whole

"I'd be a fool to say that I didn't want to pitch in the All-Star game. It's every player's dream," Rau commented earlier this week after registering his 10th win on the campaign vs. only one loss. "I think I deserve it. I beat the Reds in a crucial game for us at Riverfront earlier this year, I've got the best record in baseball, and we're on top. That has to count for something.'

Quizzed on the subject Thursday night after the All-Star staff had been picked, Rau was a bit more direct

"I just wish he (Anderson) had considered my record," said the Dodger southpaw. "There are a lot of great pitchers in this league, but I'm the only one who's 10-1.

"I guess I'll just have to keep on throwing my 'pus' up there and getting guys out," Rau said sarcastically. "Maybe next year it will be a different story.'

Yeager furious

If Rau was unhappy, Yeager was furious over being bypassed.

'Bleep the whole bleeping thing," Yeager said bluntly. "If someone comes up to me now and says I'm the best defensive catcher in baseball I'll just laugh it off. That and a quarter will get me a cup of coffee."

Yeager indicated that he for one felt that, in addition to the problem with the one-player-per-team concept, that the voting should be taken out of the hands of the fans and put in charge of the managers and coaches.

Perhaps Houston hurler Richard put the whole thing in its proper perspective when asked if he were disappointed at being bypassed for the game in favor of teammate An-

"I'll just take the three days off and go fishing," Richard shrugged. "Heck, last year I thought I deserved it too and Montefusco (of the Giants) went instead, so what can you say? It's a popularity thing.

Rams acquire Ed Flanagan

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Veteran center Ed Flanagan was traded today to the Los Angeles Rams for an undisclosed future draft choice, the San Diego

Chargers announced. Flanagan, 33, is starting his 13th season in the National Football League. He spent 10 years with the Detroit Lions, playing out his option before joining San Diego in 1975.

Sagging Dodgers lose another

PB Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO - The way things are going for them, the Dodgers will be quite happy to make it to the All-Star break without a flu epidemic breaking out on the team or having the Dodger jet break down over the Pacific Ocean.

Los Angeles dropped its sixth game in the last seven here Friday night, falling to the upstart San Diego Padres by a 5-3 score.

The loss was in many ways a carbon copy of the other five Dodger defeats the past week. L.A. got an early lead, blew a couple of chances to pad that early lead, and then died with the bats while the Padres rallied to win it.

"We're just not hitting the ball like we were," a quiet Dodger, Tom Lasorda, said after the loss, which cut the Dodger lead in the National League West to 71/2 games over Cincinnati.

We have to find a way to get our big guys back swinging," Lasorda continued. "Now it's Dusty (Baker) who's tailed off. I just hope to God they snap out of it.

The Dodgers and Rick Rhoden likely men in the Padre lineup. Second baseman Mike Champion (hitting .239 at game time with only 25 RBIs and no homers in 87 games) and leftfielder Jerry Turner (a .255 hitter at game time) combined to produce four of the five San Diego Champion finished with a 3-for-4 night vs. Rhoden, with two runs scored and two RBIs, including the game-winner in the last of the eighth. Champion's one-baggers were not exactly ripped but it all added up to another rough loss for L.A.

"Geez, Cey hits one that I thought was gone for sure and it's an out, and Champion hits two chinkers and drives in two runs," Lasorda groaned. "That's the way things have been going for us. It's been a tough week.

Champion tied the game at 3-3 in the last of the sixth with a looping single to center which scored Turner (who had singled and moved to second on a groundout).

The same combo struck again in the eighth. Turner singling to right, Dave Roberts sacrificing him to second and Champion hitting a dying quail into right in front of Reggie

In the second, Cey led off with a walk and Garvey singled him to third, but Dusty Baker hit into a twin killing (Cey scoring) to put the skids on that inning.

In the fifth, when L.A. scored twice off Freisleben, it took a twoout double by pitcher Rhoden off the centerfield fence to produce those scores. Rhoden's blast drove in Steve Yeager and Rhoden himself scored moments later as the Padres butchered a soft grounder by Davey Lopes to second base.

Lopes made it to second on that play but was stranded there as Bill Russell tapped out to end the frame.

Cey hit the hardest ball of the night for either team in the top of the sixth, but as things were going for the Dodgers and the All-Star third baseman, it went for nought.

Cey's blast to the deepest part of the park was flagged down on a nice running catch by centerfielder Gene Richards right at the 406-foot sign. That was the closest the Dodgers came to denting the plate the rest of the night off relievers Spillner and

DODGER DATA - Tommy John (9-4) will go for the Dodgers tonight vs. the Padres' John D'Aquisto (1-1). The Dodgers will close out the road trip on Sunday when Doug Rau (10-1) will face San Diego's Bob Shirley. Sunday afternoon's game will be televised on KTTV, Channel 11.

Los Angeles activated infielder Lee Lacy and optioned lefthanded pitcher Stan Wall to Albuquerque. Lacy had been on the disabled list since June 19 with pulled ligaments in his right thumb. Wall had been ineffective this year and reportedly had his differences with Dodger skipper Lasorda.

Lopes made his first start Friday since suffering a bruised hand in batting practice on July 4.

Dodger All-Star selections Garvey, Cev. Smith and Don Sutton will leave after the game Sunday for New York and Tuesday's All-Star Game at Yankee Stadium.

DOUBLE STEAL

Seattle Mariners' Steve Braun steals home before Angel catcher Terry Humphrey can tag him out in first inning in Anaheim Friday night. Bill Stein stole second on the play.

Crippled Halos beaten

By DON BRADLEY PB Staff Writer

MEDICAL CENTER, U.S.A. -Change the team name from Angels to patients and Anaheim Stadium to General Hospital.

The Angels' 6-2 loss to the expansionist Seattle Mariners Friday night was overshadowed by the loss of three more players for a minimum Rookie outfielder Thad Bosley and infielder Orlando Ramirez have been placed on the 21-day disabled list and pitcher Gary Ross on the 60-day emergency list.

Bosley, hitting .476, has had his right leg placed in a cast as the result of a broken blood vessel in the limb. Ramirez' left hand has likewise been put in a cast because of torn ligaments in his thumb, the result of sliding into base in Minnesota last week

Ross, troubled by a sore arm since spring training, will undergo surgery on his right elbow in San Diego next

The Halos have called up outfielder-first baseman Dan Briggs from Indianapolis (American Association).

But even when Briggs reports tonight, the Angels will have only four able bodied outfielders. Gil Flores was scratched from Friday night's lineup because his sore right arm (elbow) acted up again.

Ramirez' injury leaves the club with only one spare infielder that can play second or short.

The Angels right now have eight healthy pitchers, six infielders, and four each outfielders and catchers with the addition of Danny Goodwin who reported Thursday night.

Gary Nolan (4-2) made his first start since June 18 and only his second with the Halos in Friday night's

But Nolan was around for such a short time, Anaheim fans still are not sure what he looks like. The former Cincinnati Red gave up eight hits and all six runs in two innings. Former Angel Lee Stanton had his second big night in a row

Stanton, who had two doubles (and could easily have had three) Thursday night, smashed two home runs (his 12th and 13th) and a single and batted in four runs.

'It's great to come back and beat the club you played with a long time." acknowledged Stanton who batted only .190 while hitting two homers for the Halos last year.

"When you go to an expansion club, you know you're going to play more. When you're playing more, things just seem to fall into place. I never let myself get down.

It was all over in the first inning really. Dave Collins (also a former Angel) and Dan Meyer got one-out singles. Nolan struck out Ruppert Jones, but Stanton hit a 2-1 pitch over the right centerfield wall.

Steve Braun and Bill Stein singled with Braun racing around to third and then worked a double steal.

Singles by Craig Reynolds and Julio Cruz plus Meyer's sacrifice fly made it 5-0 in the second. Stanton led off the third by hitting Nolan's first pitch over the fence and that was all for Nolan

"It was his first appearance in three weeks," defended manager Dave Garcia. "He (Nolan) is a control pitcher and he didn't have his good control. He wasn't walking people (Nolan fanned two and didn't walk anyone) but he wasn't getting the pitches where he wanted them.

Mike Barlow came in and hurled six innings of scoreless ball while fanning three and walking only one.

The Angels got their runs, only one earned, in the seventh.

Bobby Bonds and Don Baylor sandwiched infield hits around an out. Dave Chalk singled in Bonds and Baylor scored on an error by Reynolds.

"I'm more concerned about our hitting than I am about our pitching," said Garcia, seemingly an incurable optimist. "We're just not hitting at all.

"But I'm not discouraged. I know they're capable of playing better ball and I know they will play better

True. Any change will be an improvement.

Nicklaus getting more interested

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) - Jack Nicklaus, playing in a tournament he wanted to skip on a course he doesn't care for, regained his interest with a 67 that staked him to a share of the second-round lead Friday in the $250,000 Pleasant Valley Golf Clas-

"Coming back from a major championship, the biggest problem is in just getting started," said Nicklaus, who lost to Tom Watson by one stroke in one of golf's great duels last week in the British Open.

Now that I've made a few birdies, got myself in position, I won't have any trouble keeping my interest." Nicklaus was tied at 135, sevenunder-par on the 7,191-yard Pleasant Valley Country Club course with Ray Floyd and little Rod Curl. Floyd shot a 68 in the hot, humid weather and the 5-foot-5 Curl had a 66.

Nicklaus traditionally does not like to play the week following a major championship. This event, however, was given "designated tournament" status this year and he and all other leading players were required to compete

He has played here only once before in his career and makes no secret of his dislike for the deep bluegrass fairways. 'It's hard to play short iron shots with any control out of bluegrass,' Seaver feels right at home "The whole question is do we have (George) Foster," said Seaver.

TOM SEAVER

CINCINNATI (AP) - Tom Seaver, who capped his first month as a member of the Cincinnati Reds with a two-hit victory over the Atlanta Braves, finally feels settled after the blockbuster trade that brought him from the New York Mets.

"It was impossible to feel at home at first, coming to a new team and leaving friends behind. But now it feels super. I don't want to be anywhere else," explained Seaver after he had pitched a 7-1 victory Thursday over the Atlanta Braves. Seaver, who said his wife and two children will move here from Greenwich, Conn., after the All-Star break, is impressed with the Reds' lineup that now plays around him. 'You really learn to appreciate just how outstanding the players are when you see them every day. You really appreciate someone like about this team is that they're real professionals. They're always up for the games. They're always loose and when you play baseball every day, that's important.

The thing that impresses me

In his first month with Cincinnati, Seaver has started six games and completed four while compiling a 3-2 record. He is 10-5 overall for the sea-

During the past month, he has pitched 51 innings, allowing 35 hits and 14 runs. He has given up 11 walks and has struck out 41.

More important, he has proved to be the ace that the Reds pitching staff needed. His victory Thursday snapped a four-game Reds losing streak a shot at the Dodgers? If we do it, I'd have to say Seaver's the one who turned it around for us. Anderson is confident that Seaver, who lost two of his first three decisions after the trade, will show Cincinnati fans the "Tom Terrific" the Mets fans knew

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson believes Seaver will be the key to a Reds' comeback.

'He's home now. He's ready. I talked to him before his last game and he said, 'George, I got to go to work.' I knew then that's it's all business from here on out.

People expected too much of him at first. They expected him to come in here and turn the world around." Then Anderson added: "He will turn the world around. Maybe not this year, but in the years to come. Those eight guys in the field have been doing it for years, but I think Seaver's the one who's finally going to turn our pitching around for us.

blew a 91/2-game lead in mid-August. The Cubs were left in the dust by the miracle New York Mets.

"Everywhere I go people want me to compare the two clubs," adds Hundley, the only holdover from the 1969 crew. "It's only natural, I guess, but they're different type

"The '69 club had more power while this club is more of a line drivesingles-doubles team with more speed. The defense on this club is just as strong and I think the pitching is a little stronger. The bullpen is certainly stronger. If we'd had Bruce Sutter in 1969 I don't think anyone would have been close to us."

In '69, the Cubs had Phil Regan, Ted Abernathy, Hank Aguirre and Rich Nye in the bullpen. Among them they saved 24 games. Sutter had 23 saves by himself before Friday game night's Philadelphia.

The starting rotation consisted of Ferguson Holtzman and Dick Selma.

Hundley did the bulk of the catching, with Ernie Banks, Glenn Beckert, Don Kessinger and Ron Santo around the infield and Billy Williams, Don Young and Jim Hickman in the oufield. For the trivia experts, the bench consisted mainly of Willie Smith, Al Spangler, Paul Popovich, Nate Oliver, Jim Qualls, Adolfo Phillips, Ken Rudolph and Oscar Gam-

The current Cubs would Jenkins, Bill Hands, Ken rather not hear about the infamous '69 debacle.

Will Cubs fold this time? "That's all I hear - the collapse in 1969," snorts Coach Peanuts Lowrey. What do we care about 1969? None of these guys were here then. I hate to see people keep bringing it up. These guys don't know anything about that."

And they won't, If Hundley has his way, even though an 81/2-game lead had dwindled to four as of Friday.

People keep saying we collapsed in 1969," he says. Why don't they say that the Mets played super the last six weeks?"

Pomona American, Ted Green triumph

Ted Greene and Pomona American moved into the winners bracket of the District 20 Senior Division Tournament with victories Friday night at La Verne College.

Ted Green got by Pomona National, 4-2, and Pomona American beat La Verne, 6-2.

Pomona National held a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning before Ted Greene's Darrell Gaskins of Cortez Auto tripled in a pair of

NEW YORK (AP) -Outfielder Dave Parker to pick up the sports pages says his recently revealed problems with the Pittsburgh Pirates have to do exclusively with money, not the team or the town. Earlier this week, the National League's leading batter was quoted as saying, "I'm not happy in Pittsburgh. I don't want to be playing there next year. I don't want to go into the reasons."

But in an interview with The Associated Press Friday, Parker decided he'd better do some talking as well as hitting.

"The first newspaper article made it sound like I didn't like Pittsburgh or that. No doubt about it. Money is the issue."

That may surprise some people since Parker signed a three-year contract, estimated at $600,000, last year before going to play winter ball.

But salaries skyrocketed and players who I didn't think could pick up my bag were making enormous amounts of money. I started thinking about all those salaries and I went in to talk." The front office talked back, but he still hadn't heard what he wanted after several meetings and the team," he said. that would total in the millions of dollars. "I want security, just like everyone else," Parker said. "Look, I'm not used to talking out like this." A private person, Parker is most comfortable doing things like leading the league in hits with 119. That's why his statement earlier this week took chest. "It's true that three times I went in to talk to them and I didn't get anywhere that way," said Parker. "But this isn't strategy. I consider myself one of the best talents in the game, if not the best. I hit for average and with power and I have an above

SKATE CHAMPIONS - 11-year-olds Kit Sheltman of Long Beach and Dorena Allen of Cucamonga placed first in elementary dance at the Southwest Pacific Regional Championships at Bakersfield and will compete at the National Roller Skating Championships at Fort Worth, Tex. next month. They skate from Holiday V in Fountain Valley.

Aztecs seek playoff berth stands tied in fifth position

LOS ANGELES - The Los Angeles Aztecs enter the last three weeks of the North American Soccer League season by hosting the Ft. Lauderdale Strikers Sunday at the Coliseum The game will be broadcast on radio stations KGIL (1260) and KFOX (1280) with Gil Stratton calling the live action. Game time is 2 p.m.

With the 1977 season three-quarters completed, the Aztecs and Dallas Tornado remain within points of each other while vying for the Southern Division title and a bye in the first round of the playoffs. Steve David continues to lead the NASL in scoring, and his two goals against Washington Saturday give him 22 on the season, and back. David is rapidly closing in on the league record of 30 goals in a season.

on the scoring list with 25 points. He shares the slot with Pele and Kyle Rote Jr. Best's 13 assists are closing in on Pele's NASL mark of 18 for a season. The Ft. Lauderdale Strikers are also locked in a battle for the Eastern Division championship, closing in on the Cosmos. Gordon Banks, one of England's all-time leading goalkeepers, has been the man most responsible for making the Strikers one of the leading defensive teams in the NASL this season. Banks is currently sporting a 1.24 Goals Against Average, and has chalked up 6 shutouts so far. The Strikers and Banks have allowed only 22 goals in 18 games.

The first 2,000 48 points overall. His youngsters (17 and under) closest rival is 16 points entering the Coliseum Sunday will receive coupons good for a $5 discount on a pair of soccer shoes. George Best currently courtesy of SOKKA

One of the most familiar sights on a summer night is a group of moths fluttering about a porch light in seemingly endless circles. Scientists tell us that moths are not really attracted by the light itself. Moths and many oother night-flying insects use the moon as a beacon to guide them. By keeping the light of the moon falling on its eyes at always the same angle, the moth is able to fly in a straight path.

The moth's problem begins when it tries to use your porch light as a beacon on which to navigate. The moon is far away and its light falls in much the same angle to the earth for whatever distance the moth might fly. But your nearby porch light fools it. The moth uses its bright light instead of the moon's to navigate with. Instead of flying in a straight path, the unwitting moth is forced to fly in ever smaller circles that eventually lead to the light bulb itself. A World Almanac Globe, camera, radio, Johnny Wonder Puzzle Book or other fine prize to the first youngster sending a question used here to: Johnny Wonder (c/o this paper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA. 95061. Include your age!

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol For Sunday, July 17, 1977 Your Birthday, July 17, 1977

Aside from your usual sources, additional channels may open this coming year to enhance your income. A partnership with someone older might be one of them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your instincts regarding financial matters are honed to a sharp edge today. If you've a mind to turning a profit it should be easy. Find out what careers you're best suited for by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Regardless of the size of the crowd, you'll not go unnoticed today even though you won't conduct yourself so as to attract attention.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Persons who are not pertinent to your plans should not be brought into the act today. Success is likely only if key people are involved.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Faith can move mountains for you today. Believe in yourself and think "win." You should walk off with the trophy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conditions having an effect upon your status and earnings are more favorable than usual today. Be ready to move if opportunity knocks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You will make a lasting impression today. Not through daring deeds, but through little acts of thoughtfulness, kindness and CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Because you are willing to serve unselfishly today, those you help will be equally eager to reciprocate. The books will be balanced.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) One-to-one relationships should be both pleasant and lucky. Some of the good fortune of those you associate with will rub off on you. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Creatively today, you're capable of producing something of beauty, and it will have permanent value as well. Break out the paints and ARIES (March 21-April 19) Schedule several activities for yourself today. The greater the action, the better you perform. Move around both mentally and physically.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Possiblities for gain are extremely promising for you today. Especially if you're involved with people of a kindly nature.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Beat not about the bush today. Use tactics that are assertive and direct. You know what you want. Go after it.

Petition to annex to Claremont completed

The Piedmont Mesa An- Way and includes scraps of nexation Steering Committee has completed canvassing a county area adjacent agricultural crops. to northwest Claremont in a drive to have the area become a part of the City of Claremont. Committee chairman Hugh Barnett said 333 or 65.2 per cent of the area's 510 residents signed the petitions which were turned in to the city clerk on Monday and now are being verified by the county registrar of voters.

If the varified signatures are sufficient, the matter could be placed on a special Nov. 8 ballot, Barnett said.

The Piedmont Mesa area is bounded on the south by the flood control channel, the east by Williams Street and the north by Base Line Road.

It contains two large, undeveloped areas. One is owned by the Claremont school district and now is Four sections of the Plaka, in escrow to a residential the part of Athens which developer. This land is at lies at the foot of the Garey and Dartmouth

Barnett said residents in the area are anxious for annexation so they can get sewer hookups, and also so residential building that takes place in the undeveloped areas will be controlled by city planners and city codes.

He said residential developers would begin construction almost immediately in the area should the annexation be approved.

CRESSON, Pa. (AP) -An unemployed teacher from western Pennsylvania's coal country, inspired by student poetry, has written a play about life in mining towns - a proud story of grim lives and hearty people.

Fred Vrabel, 24, says he based his characters in "Out of the Dark" on the migrants who once toiled in the mines near here in their quest for a better life in a new land. The play is being performed by the Cresson Lake Playhouse, a summer stock theater

"The main town is simply called Coal Town," said Vrabel, "and many of the people in the play could be found in any coal region in the world."

The story opens with a festive Polish wedding but the party is interrupted to take the audience back through the couple's courtship.

The affections of Emily Jubisky, a storekeeper's daughter, are torn between a young miner whose work is dirty and dangerous and a handsome college student who fled the mines in shame.

"It's essentially a humorless play. I don't think there's one laugh in it." said Erma Konitsky, the English teacher whose Northern Cambria High School students wrote the tales of coal town life which are sprinkled through the play.

"In spite of this, it has a kind of optimism about it that hardship builds character," she said.

That theme was evident in the two volumes of poems and short stories produced by her students at Northern Cambria High School, "Out of the Dark" and "Mining Folk." But Vrabel says his hardest task was giving the drama a sense of pride

"When you think of coal mining, the first thing you think of is disaster and a grubby kind of life," he said. "It was a challenge to look into these people and find out what gives them their strength, what makes them go into the ground day after day and risk it all.

In the end, Emily marries Tony Santini, the college man who had listed his father as an engineer to hide his shame.

"By the end of the play, he's had a change of heart," Vrabel said. "He's learned about the people of Coal Town and is almost able to convince them that they have something to be proud of.'

John Yost, the miner who courted Emily, is killed in a cave-in. "There are a couple people who die in the play who we get close to," said Vrabel. "But life is like that. It's a familiar cycle in mining towns. Near-capacity audiences have responded to the story in very personal Older women mimicked an actress as she kneaded dough. An older man cried out in anguish during a cave-in scene. "He was overcome by what he saw," said Mrs. Konitsky. "The play is very moving, very dramatic. Anybody who lived in this kind of area could certainly recognize the mine life in it.'

Beer royal 'beverage'

WASHINGTON (AP) -England's first Queen Elizabeth insisted on good beer when she traveled, according to the United States Brewers Association. She sent couriers ahead to test the beverage in the next town, and if it was not satisfactory, she had her own favorite brew brought from London in time for her visit, says Philip C. Katz, the association's director of research.

Her rival, Mary, Queen of Scots, drank beer even while she was a prisoner in Tutbury Castle.

King Arthur served his Knights of the Roundtable a beer called "bragget," highly seasoned with spices. King Henry VIII offered guests a breakfast consisting of roast beef, bread and ale, the association reports.

Story on Pages 6 and 7

Doc Peirsol

It happened in Pomona

It was much simpler for newspaper editors to speak their minds eighty five years ago. In fact, there was little they had to worry about from anti defamation leagues, representatives of the American Civil Liberties Union, or the possibility of being accused on engaging in minority group discrimination. And so, in the year 1892, the Editor of The Pomona Weekly Time fearlessly took issue with another California newspaper editor on the subject of the rights of Chinese who were being arrested on the grounds that, so far as California was concerned, they were residing in this state as illegal aliens.

"The Fresno Expositator, intensely Democratic," wrote our Pomona Weekly Times editor, "claims the clause in the new Chinese exclusion act, which deprives Chinese of the benefit of the habeas corpus act pending the trial of their cases, is unconstitutional

And then he went on to prove how short sighted and maybe even unpatriotic an "intensely Democratic" new spaper editor could be.

"If the exclusion act itself is lawful," he pointed out, surely Congress has the power to provide means for its enforcement.

So, as I stated at the start of this article, editing a newspaper was much simpler some eighty five years ago. Imagine what would happen today if a newspaper editor dared to suggest that an illegal alien in the United States had no constitutional rights.

Another victory by World Champion Anatoly Karpov is given below. The game from the recent Las Palmas tournament in which Karpov scored 12 wins and 3 draws (!) shows a typical Karpov build-up followed by a concentrated ripping attack.

Larsen was second (11 points), Timman third (10 points) and Browne, Tal and Hernandez (9 points) were tied for the next three places in the same tourna-

LIBERTY BELL PLATE

Stamps in the news

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures

The first in a new series of multicolored U.S. postal cards will make its debut on July 20. The subject of the first card in the series will be the Galveston Court House in Galveston, Tex.

The theme of the first card series is "Historic Preservation" and that is noted at the bottom of the stamp. Future cards will feature other examples of American historic architecture.

First day of issue ceremonies for the 9-cent card will be at the Court House, which was completed in 1861 and was the first federal building erected in Texas for civil purposes. It was originally authorized to serve as a customs house, post office and court house.

Over the years the building has survived Civil War damage, fires and storms - plus three threatened abandonments. After careful restoration, it was returned to government service and re-dedicated in 1967

Requests for first day cancellations should be addressed to: "Galveston Postal Card, Postmaster, Galveston, Tex., 77550." Send money orders, not "Galveston cash, of 9 cents per card. Your self-addressed envelopes should be of an appropriate size and your requests must be postmarked no later than July

On May 2, 1952, a British de havilland Comet flew from London to Johannesburg, South Africa, becoming the first jet plane to carry fare-paying passengers. The newest 'Milestone of Flight' cover (No. 50) in the continuing series sponsored by the National Air and Space Museum of the Smithsonian Institution commemorates this historic first flight.

The distinctively cacheted cover features a picture of the plane and is postmarked London, England, May 2, 1977, the silver anniversary date. The price of the cover, as usual, is $1.25. It can be ordered directly from: Milestones of Flight, National Air and Space Museum, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. 20560. Money orders should be made payable to the Smithsonian Institution.

Delays are nothing new in the United Nations even in the UN Postal Administration. New postal stationery and two airmail stamps originally scheduled for January, 1977, are just now being released. The UNPA says the delay was caused by "uncircumavoidable QUESTION: This liberty bell plate was inherited from my mother-in-law. It is approximately eight inches in diameter. The plate is decorated with the names of the 13 original states and the inscription '100 Years Ago, Declaration of Independence, 1776-1876." The patent date of September 28, 1875 is also included. Could you give me background information and value please? Mrs. R.L

ANSWER: Your centennial souvenir plate is a product of Gillinder & Sons, Philadelphia. Patent papers describe it as Centennial" Pattern; however, it was also known "Liberty Bell." Complete sets of tableware were offered in this pattern. If your plate is perfect, its value is around QUESTION: We still have my grandparents' little quart size ice cream freezer, which gets used regularly each summer. The word "ARTIC" is printed across the top. The bucket is made of wooden staves, wired together. All pieces are in good shape. Can you tell us if this small freezer has any value? It has to be over 50 years old. Mrs. S.G.

ANSWER: Small ice cream freezers like yours with a refinished pail sell in shops for about $30.

QUESTION: We have a set of 10 oyster plates which I have attempted to sketch for you, including their mark. The outer edges are fluted or scalloped, and the ovals on the drawing represent in dentations which held the oysters and sauce in the center. All of the plates are in perfect condition. Their seaweed decoration is in pink and green. I am curious to know the probable value of these family treasures, marked H & Co., L France, Haviland & Co., Limoges. Mrs. D.R.

ANSWER: Haviland oyster plates like you have described usually sell for about $30-$35 each QUESTION: I will appreciate learning the value of my two WELLER vases, signed "Louwelsa." measures 16 inches high, is bulb shaped, has a deep brown glaze and the front is decorated with beautiful hand painted roses. The other piece, a 91/2 inch ewer, is also dark brown, but its floral decoration is yellow and orange pansies. Mrs. M.K.S.

ANSWER: Large signed "Louwelsa Weller" vases like yours in perfect shape sell around the $90 figure, whereas ewers go for about $75-$85.

QUESTION: I would like to know what a large maple "swan" butter mold is worth today? It is in fine untouched condition, having been in our family four generations. C.M.

ANSWER: Butter molds like you describe range in price from about $55-$75.

Russians basking in 'Black Sea' splendor

At the turn of the century, Russian nobles basked in the sunshine and drank from the mineral springs at this forested Black Sea resort.

Today, the 90-mile strip of coastline 850 miles south of Moscow has been turned into a model of what the Kremlin likes to call a 'socialist resort."

By this they mean that palatial rest homes and sanatoria, beaches and wooded hills are provided to ordinary people at low cost, along with free medical care for those who need

Officials of Sochi say they are putting into effect a 1919 decree of Soviet founder Vladimir I. Lenin, who said all resorts with palaces and estates were to be used as health spas.

Sochi is the largest of the country's resorts, which together received 48 million vacationers last year in their holiday

Each year, 3 million of these vacationers visit Sochi - more than the city of 280,000 can really han-

The "socialist resort" is highly organized, with trade unions assigning vacationers to spots in Sochi's 180 rest homes and 53 sanatoria, according to figures provided by deputy mayor Yevgeny Lyashenko.

People who fail to obtain a place through the trade union stay where they can, packing into hotels, communal quarters and rooms in private homes.

They complain that for vacationers on their own, Sochi can be a difficult place. Facilities can be poor, transportation in texas is expensive, and space on the beach and a chance to drink the curative mineral waters hard to come by.

There are some fine resort hotels along the water's edge, but the best of these are reserved primarily for foreigners, who pay higher prices, and in coveted hard currency.

One Russian woman said she succeeded in booking a room at the five-year-old Zhemchuzhina Hotel only by bribing a clerk with imported coffee and American cigarettes, and that she was told she was causing the hotel to lose money.

The Zhemchuzhina charges Soviet citizens about 3.90 rubles (close to $5) for a single room, while foreigners pay 20 rubles (about $27)

Those vacationers who are looked after by the trade unions are looked after well. Twenty-four days in a rest home or sanatorium costs from 80 to 240 rubles, Lyashenko said. For about one fourth of the visitors, the trade unions pay up to 70 per cent of this cost.

The various sanatoria specialize in such disorders as cardio-vascular locomotor disease. problems or skin ailments. But whatever their speciality, most of them rely to a large extent on Sochi's hydrogen-sulphide mineral springs, on swim-ming, sunbathing, rest and controlled diets.

Sochi is a quiet town, lush green with cypruses, palms, pine and plane trees, wisteria and magnolias.

Its lack of commercialism has kept it free of gaudiness and bustle, but has also left some visitors complaining that there is not much to do here.

During the long warm afternoons, vacationers stroll through the parks and look across the ocean toward Turkey, 200 miles away.

Artist exhibits marble sculptures

TOKYO (AP) - Sculptor Minoru Niizuma's largest one-man show has opened in his native Japan, 18 years after he left to live and work in New York.

The heavy and yet delicate abstract forms in marble, a total of 35 pieces, were brought here from the United States in a 40ton and a 20-ton container for the three-week exhibition

Niizuma has exhibited internationally and some of his sculptures are owned by the Guggenheim Museum, the Museum of Modern Art and Rockefeller University, and the largest, weighing 14 tons, will go to the Smithsonian Institution-in Washington, DC

But until he was invited recently by Tokyo's Seibu Museum, he had not visited Japan for 14 years.

"For a long time I didn't return to this country and Japanese critics didn't care about me," said the 46-year-old Niizuma, a heavyset man who looks entirely capable of wresting precise and sensitive forms from two-ton blocks of marble.

"The critics like artists who return often and go drinking with them. Now people are very warm to me, but I think it is because I am going to return to the United States. I am not competition.

"I think Japan is still a small country, with people thinking about such relationships, competition, obligations.

His work is often said to be very Japanese. Thomas Messer, director of the Guggenheim Museum, wrote for the Seibu catalogue, "the artist's confident reliance upon the communicative power of his materials and surfaces is, of course, in the best Oriental tradition — one so easily admired yet wholly beyond emulation in Western traditions of modern art."

"If something is really Japanese," Niizuma said, "then it can be international. If Japanese artists imitate Western artists, it may look international but is not."

The nationally circulated Asahi Shimbun commented, "He is very conscious of Japanese beauty and because of his strong personality, he can hold his own in the international

Niizuma said he felt most Japanese had never seen such kinds of colored marble and didn't know it could be made into such is now one of the largest unfinished plastercraft stores in the Pomona Valley.

With the recent addition of a second floor showroom the store now boasts over 5,000 square feet of floor space full of everything the hobbyists needs to decorate white ware.

Owned and operated by Howard and Katherine Miller and assisted by daughters Mary Kay and Elizabeth. The store has doubled in size since they purchased it one year ago.

The store carries a complete line of plaques, childrens lamps, banks, clocks, mirrors, picture frames, religious items, classics, western and oriental pieces, with the second floor showroom devoted entirely to decorator items such as lamps, large wall hangings and large animals. Also available is the complete line of Delta paints and sprays, gold leafing supplies, metallic rubs, wiring for lamps, brushes, antiquing stains and chalks, everything you need to create outstanding plaster pieces.

Instruction is always available and one of our greatest achievements is to see someone who claimed to have no artistic talent proudly show off their finished product and proclaim "I did it myself."

Mrs. Claire Rieck, resident of Lake Arrowhead, also assists in the teaching. Mrs. Rieck's specialty is woodland and exotic animals and many of the painted pieces throughout the store are her creations.

One of the unique features is a repair and refinish service. A chipped lamp or a broken nose can be skillfully repaired and repainted to your satisfaction Plastercraft is inexpensive and fun to do. Do come in and try your hand. We promise to make an "instant artist" of you.

JASNA PLANINA MEMBERS PERFORM BULGARIAN DANCE

CATHY LEWBOW IN BULGARIAN COSTUME

Folk dancing a labor of love

Visitors to Claremont's Fourth of July festivities in Memorial Park were intrigued by a large group of folk dancers garbed in peasant costumes of the Balkans, accompanying their dances on the gajda (bagpipe) and the booming tupan (big drum).

The performance was a contribution of Jasna Planina (Clear Mountain), a Claremont-based organization of devotees of the dances of Eastern Europe and the Middle East. Directed by Nancy Ruyter, who holds a Ph. D. in history from the Claremont Graduate School, the troupe is now observing its fifth anniversary.

Jasna Planina (HOZ-na Plah-NEEN-a) draws its 29 members from throughout Southern California to learn the songs and dances of Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Turkey, Greece and other countries; to make authentic peasant costumes of those lands, and to perform, usually free, at colleges, schools, churches, recreation centers and folk dance festivals. They have danced at Griswold's Old School House, Montclair Plaza and the Montclair Starlite Theater and in a Moussorgsky opera at Cal State Los Angeles. The group's most recent appearance was at the statewide convention of the Folk Dance Federation of Southern California at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium

"There is an incredible variety and quantity of folk songs and dances from Eastern Europe and the Middle East," Mrs. Ruyter says. "In the more traditional areas, one can still find people-singing and dancing them today.

In quest of authentic dances and costumes, she has made two trips to the Balkans, where she studied the dances in special summer courses and, with her husband, recorded the songs and filmed the dances. She does most of the choreography and arrangements for Jasna Planina.

For accurate presentation of the colorful dances of Croatia, Turkey and Romania, the group engaged experts. The Croatian suite was choreographed by Nena Sokcic, for many years leading singer, dancer and director of Ledo, the major professional folk ensemble of Croatia. Dances for the Turkish suite were taught to Jasna Planina by Bora Oskok, a leading authority on Turkish dance. Sunni Bloland, a professor at UC Berkeley who has spent many years researching the folk dances of Romania, designed the dances for the Romanian suite the group is now working to add to its reper-

"In the peasant cultures from which our material comes," says Mrs. Ruyter, "singing and dancing are a part of everyone's life and has a place in connection with work, social rites, celebrations and religious observances. There are songs to be sung while the women spin and embroider together, songs for marriages, funerals and christenings and for all religious holidays. Dances are also done on these occasions, but the dance is not usually specific to one kind of event.'

Among the songs and dances in Jasna Planina's Macedonian suite are "Dobro Dosle," a wedding song sung by the bride's family as the groom's family approaches to take away the bride; "Pravoto," an open circle dance performed at every wedding and many other ceremonies, and "Nevestinsko," a dance by young married women before they have borne their first child.

"The music of the Balkans is quite interesting in its melodies, harmonies, instruments and especially its rhythms," says Mrs. Ruyter. "Just as in the dances and songs, there is an enormous range and variety of instrumental music.

Jasna Planina has been using recorded music for accompaniment, but the group recently formed an orchestra which will play for the dances in the future.

Besides accuracy in song and dance, Jasna Planina insists on authenticity in costume. All of the colorful ensembles are either bought in the native lands or created by the members from models and designs brought back by Mrs. Ruyter. They feature intricate, handembroidered decoration on hand-loomed cloth and include woven woolen aprons and knitted decorative woolen socks. This summer the dancers are at work on Romanian costumes which require a great deal of elaborate embroidery, the patterns and designs drawn from real examples or from illustrations in books the Ruyters brought back from the Balkans.

Jasna Planina is headed by Mrs. Ruyter, who teaches dance history, ethnic dance forms and modern dance at Orange Coast College. She has taught at Pomona College, UC Riverside and UCLA. Others who have been with the group from the start are Jim Maynard, a teacher at Lincoln School in Pomona and in the Claremont recreation department folk dance group; Bertha Makow, who dances with a Polish performing ensemble; Carol Basinger, who directs a group of Scottish folk dancers; Joseph and Joyce Abbate, UC Riverside scientists who studied folk dancing in the Balkans; Jim Cram, a specialist in Renaissance dancing, and Gregory Glass and Jennifer Monson.

Between orchestra rehearsals, training new members in the existing repertoire, and constructing costumes for the new Romanian suite, the members of Jasna Planina are facing a busy summer.

New members are always welcome. Anyone interested in joining the group can obtain information from Mrs. Ruyter at 621-1592.

BIG O TIRES BELIEVES IN SERVICE

One of the fastest and youngest tire firms in the nation is the Big O Tire chain. With more than 300 stores nationwide, Big O Tires offers its customers more than just a place to buy tires.

According to Ken Little, Pomona Big O Tire owner 505 W. Holt Ave., the company's sales program caters to customer needs. He said, "we guarantee absolute customer satisfaction. After a customer purchases a set of tires, they are most interested in the service we provide."

The 32-year-old owner continued, "even though most other well-known new tires have eliminated their road hazard warranty coverage, the Big O warranty for road hazard is still in effect up to 2/32" of remaining tread."

Little's service guarantee to his customers is effective whether a tire is ruined through a road hazard or factory imperfections. The customer gets a free replacement tire as long as there is legal tread remaining. The free replacement warranty covers not only new tires but retreads and four-wheel wheel drive offroad tires. The service policy includes free balancing, rubber valve stems, 5,000-mile rotation and flat tire repairs. "Some customers can't believe we offer that kind of service," Little said. He continued, "the customer tries to pay us after we've told them there is no charge... they think we're joking."

The warranties are reciprocal and apply at every Big O Tire store nationwide.

A unique service provided by the Holt Avenue store is the speed lane system. Little commented, "It's a concept started by Big O and it's not unusual for us to mount four new tires on a car in 10 minutes."

Customers in the market for retread tires will always find bargains at Little's store because he and his father, Oral, are part owner of a retread plant in Rial-to. The 44,000 square-foot facility is one of the largest retread plants in southern California.

The Big O store also carries tire accessories, including chrome, mag-type and heavy duty truck wheels. Now in its 28th year of operation, the Pomona Big O Tire store operates under the principle "quality tires with quality service and reliable warrantees." One of the special services the Holt Avenue store offers to its customers is a six month financing program at no interest.

Little's Big O store is one of two in Pomona. The other tire store is operated by his cousin, Dean Burrell, at 784 E. Mission Boulevard.

Employees of the Holt Avenue store are:

Carlos Hernandez, Manager; Fred Robies, Tammy Tapley, and Scott Little. Store hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday.
